

Artist Bio: Dawne Allynne

With an artistic soul born in New York and nurtured in the bright sunshine of the Jersey Shore, Dawne Allynne's creative muse resonates with intricate themes and diverse inspirations that will connect with anyone who appreciates life's complexities. Her fierce and engaging songwriting is supported by her music and her soulful vocals. She is equally at home in a packed, high-energy rock club or in a smokey blues dive at midnight ready to close the place down.

Dawne Allynne is a charismatic and compelling performer with an equally compelling journey. She brings several lifetimes of experience, love and loss, success and failure, friends made and missed, hazy memories and lucid dreams, to her songs and her music. Every resonance of the guitar and crafted lyric share expressions of both a remembrance of the past and hopefulness and curiosity for the future.

Having performed with several roots rock bands in the past, and building on her musical experience while exploring new creative directions with her original compositions, she is setting forth on a new path while continuing to perform at many well known venues including the legendary Stone Pony.

Dawne Allynne has teamed up with the multi talented musician and songwriter Joe Morgano, currently working on her next solo CD, titled "She" scheduled for 2009. Dawne and Joe also write songs for other artists and publishers which include a variation of different genres of music. Although Dawne Allynne has an R&B/Roots-Rock vibe on her solo album, their repertoire includes, rock, pop, country, and folk.

Dawne continues the Jersey music scene tradition of involvement in and support of charitable cause. She has lent her time and music to the Light of Day organization, Kristen Ann Carr Foundation and various other groups. Her empathy and compassion for those in need, and her ability to relate to people who have had to fight for life's joys and happiness, infuses her music and gives her inspiration-which in turn inspires her audience.

And "She" can play that guitar, which completes the foundation to support her lyrics and vocals desired to express the world she see's around her!

When the speakers start resonating with the pulse of her playing, a wonderful experience is about to begin.
